

Look at me now

Evie Engineer

It wasn't all that long ago
When I was just a girl,
The thought of solving everything
Sent my mind into a whirl.

By collecting broken toys
That children left behind,
I would create my own inventions
Using all that I could find.

It stretched my imagination
And I'd really go to town,
Busy solving problems,
Writing all my ideas down.

I was given all the tools I'd need
To build an enterprise,
And it opened up a big wide world
To invent and analyse.

So as I grew, I studied hard
And promised to persevere,
It's really nice to meet you all
Hi, I'm Evie Engineer.
